

Placental insufficiency - from causes to consequences, from prediction to prevention

Society for
Maternal-Fetal
Medicine

In collaboration with

08:00-08:20	Welcome and introduction	Chairs
08:20-08:50	Placental disorders: from pathology to clinical manifestations	R. Romero
08:50-09:10	Growth restriction: building consensus on terminology, definitions, outcomes	A. Papageorghiou
09:10-09:40	Growth restriction: fetal physiology and adaptation	A. Baschat
09:40-10:00	Recognising growth restriction: ISUOG Fetal biometry guidelines	L. Salomon
10:00-10:30	Refreshment break
10:30-10:50	Should all women have third trimester ultrasound screening? What the data show	A. Odibo
10:50-11:10	Novel sonographic tools for the evaluation of the placenta	A. Abuhamad
11:10-11:40	Managing growth restriction: understanding our tests and their limitations in early and late disease	A. Papageorghiou
11:40-12:00	Management of fetal growth restriction in twins	J. Stone
12:00-13:00	Lunch break
13:00-13:20	Examining the link between late growth restriction and stillbirth	R. Silver
	DEBATE: Predicting stillbirth is...	A. Papageorghiou (Moderator)
13:20-13:35	Impossible using current technology	R. Silver
13:35-13:50	Possible and useful	A. Odibo
13:50-14:00	Rebuttal and vote	R. Silver A. Odibo
14:00-14:20	Preeclampsia in 2018: state of play	B. Sibai
14:20-14:40	Ultrasound in management of preeclampsia: ISUOG guidelines	L. Salomon
14:40-15:00	Future directions: the role of statins in preeclampsia prevention or treatment	J. Stone
15:00-15:30	Refreshment break
	DEBATE: Prediction of preeclampsia: is it useful?	J. Stone (Moderator)
15:30-15:45	Yes - and can lead to prevention	A. Baschat
15:45-16:00	A waste of money - just give Aspirin to all	B. Sibai
16:00-16:10	Rebuttal and vote	A. Baschat B. Sibai
16:10-16:30	Future directions: genetics, epigenetics and precision medicine	M. Norton
16:30-16:50	Future directions: the role of MRI in assessing placental function	L. Salomon
16:50-17:00	Feedback and close	Chairs

Please note that this is a provisional schedule which may change.